GET TO FARM ADVISER'S JOB

The Arlington Heights club was "put next" to a farm adviser by the board of directors Tuesday evening. Mr. Barrett also introduced Mr. and Mrs. O. Olson in person, and the "play child" of the club, who is considered a person by thousands of people, who listen in to the broadcast of WLS, and other stations, Mr. Barrett's presence at the club was a great help. Mr. Barrett has a lot of help in his work, but he saved it for the last part of his talk. The club was devoted to a resume of the farm adviser's work. Mr. Barrett, who asks a lot of questions and never ceases to wonder about the things the farm adviser has to do, stated that the farm adviser's work is not very old. It started in Washington in 1911, and the first appropriations were made by congress for extension work. The agricultural authorities discovered about that time where the average farmer will be willing to adopt from between the covers of a book, new farming methods that are available to him, he will give heed to what he learns from another fellow. It was then that the U. S. agricultural department began circulating some of their huge expenditures for booklets on farming and began to make appropriations in conjunction with the states that will permit the placing in the county agents fields. Illinois today cooperates with the government in this work and each farm bureau in the state receives about $2,000 a year. In Indiana the balance of the farm bureau expenses are paid by the counties and the adviser is expected to serve all farmers. In Illinois, to secure that service and financial help the farmers interested must cooperate to the forming of their individual farm bureaus with annual dues of $1.00. In this way the farm adviser is really the county agent of the U. S. Department of agriculture, the local representative of the state agricultural department and other governmental agencies. The Cook County Board of Commissioners recognizes the obligation of the county and this year made a liberal appropriation to the farm bureau fund.

Mr. Barrett found that all farmers do not agree as to the class of service that a farm bureau should give. Some think that it should enter the commercial line; others that it should be purely educational. Mr. Barrett has had to find a happy medium. Although not handling the material directly, yet the farm bureau has directed the purchase of past year of 3,000 tons of ground limestone, and 11 tons of raw rock phosphate.

The farm testing associations are now operating in the county, which means that 800 milk producing cattle are under the supervision of accredited testers and that the owners of these cows are making more money than ever before from their dairy.

Mr. Barrett will take Ole to the State Agricultural meeting at Rock Island, Jan. 19.

Protective Association Now a Part of Farm Bureau's Big Program

Every paid up member of the Cook County Farm Bureau will soon receive a "protective" sign from that body. The sign announces rewards for the receipt of information of any thievery that may be committed about the premises of such member.

The signs read as follows: "Member Cook County Farm Bureau; reward for information leading to conviction, $25 for grand larceny, $15 for petty larceny. By order Protective Committee."

These signs will be issued yearly upon payment of the regular farm bureau dues and there will be no additional expense for the added protection and service.

Mr. Joe Bucknell Dies Suddenly

Mr. Joe Bucknell, of Jackson, Mich., who formerly made his home in Arlington Heights at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Paddock, died suddenly Wednesday morning. No details of the death were contained in the telegram that was received by his cousin, Mrs. Paddock.

Mr. Bucknell, has many friends in this village, his never failing good nature and "way with the children" being the magnet that drew people to him. He was employed by the Grand Trunk Railroad a good many years and although having passed the retirement age, several in active duty, the company kept him in active duty. At the time of his death, he was in charge of the district of which Battle Creek is the center.

The Mayor, He's Not a Blacksmith, But Keeps Iron Hot

Here is a little story on Mayor Flentie that we are passing on to our readers. He has withdrawn what he hopes is his last iron from the blacksmithing forge, but he is still going to keep his iron hot in the lions club.

It is a rule of the local club that every new member must make a maiden speech. Thus Julius was called upon last Tuesday night to tell the boys why he joined the Lions Club. He said that the only reason he never joined it earlier was because he had too many irons in the fire and now that he has got them out, he finds that he has jumped out of the frying pan into the fire. His irons, this time figurative ones, will be kept burning in the Lions club. He got even with the conspirators who forced him to his feet, by adding that in this case, he was glad to note that he would not have to pump any bellows, the members furnishing the air.

Arlington Club to the Fore

The Arlington Heights Lions Club has shown such progress in Lionscraft that their name appears in "The Governor's Message" for December.

Auxiliary to V. F. W. Again Carries Cheer to Heroes of World War

Under the leadership of Miss Ruth Heffernon and Mrs. Rose Foley six members of the auxiliary journeyed to the Elgin State Hospital, Tuesday afternoon of this week, and assisted in giving a special supper to 215 disabled ex-service men.

Three cars, driven by Mr. G. K. Volz, Gus Framburg, (driving Mr. Skoog's car), and Herbert Towne, carried an over-abundance of oranges, cigarettes, (furnished by the post), coffee, cream and sugar.

Mrs. Rose Foley, who has worked so faithfully as senior vice president the past year, is now to take the helm as President of the Arlington Auxiliary to Post No. 981, V. F. W., and enjoy planning these "treats" for the boys at Elgin, with the money received from the Poppy Day Sales, last may which was held under her direction.

The heavily laden tables Tuesday were ample proof of what these boys are to enjoy the coming year. The Auxiliary wishes to thank the above mentioned big hearted men who gave their time and cars to help make this trip a success.

Post Card Attorneys In Suits Against Improving Rejectors

A number of Palatine people who signed postal cards a few years ago at the behest of a firm of Chicago postal card lawyers have been made defendants in a law suit started in an Evanston justice court. These attorneys sought clients to fight for the defeat and reduction of the many paying propositions in Palatine and evidently the postal card lawyers now think that some citizens did not pay up for the services rendered.

The Chicago attorneys are billing some citizens and starting suit to collect on some cases which were withdrawn by the village.

The post card experts claim that the improvements were knocked out by them.

We understand that five north side citizens have been summoned to an Evanston justice court "at this time" and no doubt more will be served at some future date.

A few local people were very active in assisting in securing signatures to these post cards, fighting the improvements and in some instances the attorneys claimed to represent property owners who did not sign their cards.

The suits now started are an echo of the bitter fight which was waged against the Palatine improvement program a few years ago, an improvement program which definitely put Palatine on the map and caused this town to be one of the most talked of suburbs in the Chicago area.

PARK BOARD CONSIDERS PARK SITES

The Arlington Park District board recently received four suggested sites for park purposes. They vary in size from ten to forty acres. Only one of them is within the park district at the present time. The prices vary from $900 to $2500 an acre. The sites are as follows:

Forty acres on Foundry road. Thirty acres on Euclid and Miner, east of Hickory.

Ten acres on Wing street. Twenty acres southwest corner of the village.

The park board is proceeding very cautiously until they learn the desires of the public and will take no definite action in the near future.

The first step will be an enlargement of the district, which at present is smaller than the village. The park board has no authority to purchase a park outside of its boundary. The necessary petitions for increased territory will probably be circulated early next year.

The possible sites for a park are not many and the few that are existing are increasing in value. If the future City of Arlington Heights is going to have a park the first step must be taken at this time. Failure to act now will close the door upon many sites, which are in the process of being subdivided.

It is the intention of the park board to keep the public informed of any plans that may be under consideration and the consent of the voters will be secured before any definite action is taken.

The cost of the proposed park for the tax payers would only be a small amount per year as the law positively limits the taxing power of the district.

Oysters in the Shell And By the Barrel

Henry Martens has a barrel of oysters and his friends the past week have been having their first experience with oyster a la shell. The friends must first open them before they can start the stew. Reports have it that some of those friends have had to call in experts upon how to break the shell. No, you do not need an ax, use a screw driver if you can not get them open any other way.

But the oysters are well worth any trouble that may be necessary in order to get at the meat. Mr. Martens has a friend in New Jersey who sent him an apple barrel full of the oysters. The oysters will keep indefinitely as long as they remain in the shell and are kept frozen. It was rather a nice Christmas gift, but even Henry and his family can not eat a whole barrel of the oysters and that was where his friends were lucky.

Incidentally, Henry has not announced what he expects to do after the first of the year, when he quits business. To our inquiry he said, "Eat oysters of course." He intends to take a vacation, where to, he has not yet decided, except that it will not be to the oyster fields. He has one of those on his rear porch now.

Tinsmith Shears Help Decorate Christmas Tree

Have you noticed the Arlington Heights community Christmas tree? It is probably the first tree that was ever decorated with the products of a tinsmith's shears. We do not know who conceived the idea, but it was not only novel, but effective. Malzahn & Goetke provided the shears and blocks of tin. Carl Behrens cut up the tin in odd shapes, the office stenographer directed the shaping of the self made ornaments into fantastic shapes and it was not long before Arlington Heights had the first tin decorated Christmas tree on record.

There are other things aside from the tin decorations. Electric lights will burn during the holiday season. Through the interest of Mr. Heimann, flood lights have also been provided. Gilbert Klehm directed the decorating of the tree. The Peoples State Bank are donating the electric current that has made possible the lighting of the tree and nothing remains except a blanket of snow to give the real Christmasy look.

Palatine School Instructor Weds

Announcing the wedding of Miss Maybelle E. Wenegar to Mr. Harrison A. Kincaid, which took place at Rock Island, Ill. Dec. 10, 1927, at the Broadway M. E. church, with Rev. Roy F. Synwalt officiating.

Miss Wenegar is a graduate of the Palatine H. S. class of '25, and has just recently completed a course of study at the Chicago Normal College. While in college, she was an active member of the Normal College Athletic Association Fellowship Club.

The groom is a graduate of the Galva, Ill., community H. S., and received his B. S. Degree from Knox College, Galesburg, Ill. in 1925. He is a member of the Alpha Theta Alpha Fraternity. He is a science teacher and athletic coach of the Palatine high school.

Leaving Thursday noon for short wedding trip with no definite plan in mind except Springfield, for their first stop, drive.

Attributes Longevity To Good Judgment In Regard to Work

Mr. David Barrett, 88 years of age, who is visiting his son, O. G. Barrett is a rather spry young man for one who has seen so many years. He attributes his longevity of life to the fact that he has used good judgment in work. Mr. Barrett says that a lot of people who take life easy die young, but the man who works hard, and yet uses judgment in the amount that he allows himself to do, is the man who will reach the greater age. Mr. Barrett looks as though his logic is good. Although nearing the 90 mark, he appears like a man in his seventies.

He was born and raised in Michigan, near Hudson, and he is very loyal to his home county, which he says for years ranked as the finest agricultural county in the U. S. That was before the arrival of the "scale" that played havoc with the fruit trees. There was no such thing as farm advisers in those days and the growers of apples were not organized to fight the disease that preyed upon their crops.

Mr. Barrett cleared his original tract of 118 acres in Michigan. Invested with heavy timber it was no easy task, but the land later became some of the best farms in the state. That part of the state it was while dad was clearing land that his son, O. G. Barrett put himself through college, both son and dad working hard. Whether the son exercises what his father would call "good judgment" in the amount of work he attempts, we question. O. G.'s work as farm adviser keeps him so busy, he has not the time to follow union hours.

Mr. David Barrett tells a little story about the first Red Cross drive in which he participated. It was shortly after the war that a drive for Red Cross funds was made in his home community. Mr. Barrett agreed to wrangle any other civil war veteran who would take the match with him. To add zest to the match the crowd made up a purse of $80 for the winner, the same to be donated in his name to the local Red Cross fund.

Mr. Barrett although 80 year sold won the match and the charity fund was increased the amount of the prize.

Mr. Barrett used one expression about Cook county soil that is a new one to many of us. He calls our soil waxy, because it sticks to the feet, the result of the great amount of clay contained therein. Mr. Barrett spends the winters in Arlington Heights and Chicago and his summers upon the old homestead in Michigan.

Bring Christmas Cheer to Many Arlington Homes

The people of Arlington Heights can enjoy their Christmas gifts better next Sunday morning with a realization that Santa Claus has not forgotten some of the needy homes within the village. The identity of those homes are kept secret and our reporter is not aware of their identity. It makes no difference who they are. It is sufficient that Arlington Heights people were ready to do their duty in this respect. They have displayed the good neighborly spirit.

There are a number of agencies and local organizations who have participated in this work, but among those who have come to the attention of the Herald are the Lions Club, and a number of the rooms of the intermediate school. Miss Jackson, the community nurse was instrumental in distributing Christmas cheer to a number of homes.

The Lions Club makes it a rule that all fines collected from members during the year should be placed in the charity fund, but when a case of need was presented to them last Tuesday night by President Behrens, it did not take long before dollar bills were being thrown upon the table and as a result $30 was voted to this particular cause.

Three rooms of the intermediate school gave up their usual Christmas parties and celebrations and donated their time and money to needy families. Approximately fifty bundles were collected in each one of the rooms. Three Christmas trees, fully trimmed were given to the three families. A total of fifty pieces of clothing were collected and 25 toys.

One room sent Christmas gifts to a former classmate who is now in Oak Forest. Miss Jackson states that she never saw a better example of the true Christmas spirit than that displayed by these children.

The last baby clinic held last Wednesday was attended by 23 babies. The demand has grown to such an extent that the committee is hoping to secure additional funds, which will enable the employment of a physician for a longer period than the three hours which he now gives.

Adelaide Westphal Appears in New Act at Woodstock

Miss Adelaide Westphal and her team mate, Dorothy Sebastian are in Palatine for the Christmas holidays. They are booked to appear in a Woodstock theatre Saturday and Sunday evening. They have a new act entitled "Seven Flashes" and local friends will no doubt be glad of the opportunity to gain see our Adelaide.

REFORM WAVE RECEIVES NO RECOGNITION

Are intoxicating liquors sold in Arlington Heights? Are slot machines to be allowed to continue and are the number of punch boards limited only to the space available upon the counters of the various stores?

These are questions that can only be answered by the future, but Trustee Adam presented a motion governing these matters at the meeting Monday night of the board of trustees. The motion was not seconded, and no action taken by the board.

The motion of Mr. Adam was as follows:

"I make a motion that the police committee be instructed to (1) stop the sale of intoxicating drinks; (2) confiscate money returning slot machines and (3) prohibit the use of punch boards within the village limits, to take effect Jan. 1, 1928."

It is an open secret that the village has stopped any individual financial gain on account of the operation of slot machines. The village recently received $440 worth of new fire hose paid for by a voluntary donation on the part of the owner of the various slot machines.

It is also an open secret that the board considered the licensing of soft drink parlors at $500 a year, but in the face of a remonstrance, dropped such plans and the soft drink parlors pay only a small license.

The village board has previously taken the position that the enforcement of the volstead act was up to the federal authorities.

Trustee Adam in offering his motion made no explanation and the board adjourned without a second being received.

Supreme Court Decision Doubles Bonding Power

A decision of the Illinois supreme court handed down on Wednesday doubles the bonding power of all Illinois Municipalities, school districts, townships, etc.

This decision has long been awaited by the corporate taxing bodies of the state and came as a result of a test case from DuPage county involving a school district.

The last legislature in its closing hours passed a mass of legislation tending to double Chicago's bonding and at the same time exempt smaller corporate taxing bodies from having the same power.

There were bills passed which conflicted with each other and amendments tacked on to bills which shouldn't have been tacked on.

The net result was a mass of legislation which had the public in general up in the air and the lawyers themselves gasping for breath to find out what it was all about and just how this that, and the other bill affected this, that and the other taxing body.

As near as can be determined at this time the result of the supreme court decision in the DuPage county school case is that it affects local taxing bodies as it affects local villages, school districts, townships and other corporate taxing bodies.

In Palatine this means that the bonding power of the high school district is doubled and that the district by the necessary approval of the people can issue $150,000 in bonds instead of the present limitation of $75,000.

The decision of the supreme court has caused a great commotion in down state political circles and efforts are being made to call a special session of the legislature to cure all of the taxing and bonding legislation passed at the regular session.

If a special session is called it will probably take up the taxing matters as well as the primary law and one or two other important issues which are now before the people of the state.

Interest in political circles and among the people as a whole is now intense as to just what Governor Small will do about calling the legislature in special session and just what the legislature will do if it is so called.

Fair Meeting Is Postponed

The annual stockholders meeting and election of officers of the Cook County Fair Association which was scheduled for last Sunday afternoon at the Palatine Village hall was adjourned until on Thursday evening, Jan. 5, because of the lack of a quorum.

At the adjourned meeting the annual election of officers will be held, dates for the 1928 fair will be selected and delegates will be elected to attend the annual convention of the Illinois Association of Agricultural Fairs which will be held at Quincy January 11 and 12.

The report of the 1927 fair will show that a very satisfactory season was enjoyed by the Cook County Fair this year and that besides taking care of all 1927 obligations a large amount of pressing old indebtedness was wiped out. The officers hope for a full attendance January 5.

Smoke a Gander and taste a better cigar.

Grade School Quintet Wins From Libertyville

Arlington Heights intermediate school is well on the way with a championship basketball team this year. They defeated Libertyville last Friday 16 to 14. There was not much difference between the two teams on the score board but there was a lot of difference between them on the scales and according to stature. The visitors had a team that resembled near giants compared to the Arlington team but the latter team were not in the least daunted at the bigness of their adversaries and fought gamely. The game was not easily won however as two overtime periods were necessary. Webster Ward is the player who captured the last two baskets. Louis Brodman is another player whose work made victory possible.

The Arlington team displayed good defense and offense, but were weak in basket throwing. They need practice in this phase of the game and Coach Gustafson has utilized all practise periods since the Libertyville game, upon that one point.

As this paper goes to press the team is playing Villa Park, which was defeated by Arlington last year.

The light weights of the intermediate school played a team from the high school for the opening game last Friday. The latter team was composed largely of players who were formerly members of the intermediate school team and they won by four points.

The members of the first squad are: Raymond Klein, center; Webster Ward and Louis Stefanik, guards; Louis and Frank Brodman, forwards.

Village Sends Seasons Greetings in Tax Bills

Some fifteen hundred owners of property in Arlington Heights have received a Christmas greeting from the office of Village Collector Bothe in the shape of notices of amounts due on the various special assessments.

The annual installments on all special assessments are due at this time and the flood of notices from the treasurer's office have come as a Christmas greeting to the owners of Palatine property.

The receipt of these notices just at Christmas time has met with a flood of good natured banter on the subject of sending out such a joy killer just as a person was about to start out to make their Christmas purchases.

These notices of healthy payment to be made at this time have temporarily "taken the joy out of life" for many who have received them recently and are loud in their protests about a law which makes Christmas and special assessments come riding in behind the same team of reindeers.

But the public is making the best of the situation and the office of the village treasurer is a busy place these days with the people pouring in to pay their assessments.

Assessments are due on a large number of special improvements at this time among which are sewers, sidewalks, paving, water extensions, ornamental street lights, outlet ditch opening, etc.

There are at present some forty five active special assessments in the Village of Palatine which gives some indication of the amount of public improvement work which has gone on here within the last few years and also explains the reason for the great amount of building activity which has taken place in Palatine during the past year or two.

Eastern Star Plays Host to Children at Christmas Party

The annual Eastern Star Christmas party Saturday afternoon was a delightful affair, according to the children and they ought to know. There were 115 present. The usual program was varied this year and an entertainment was given. A professional magician from Chicago created a lot of fun for the youngsters. This was supplemented by numbers by the young people. These appearances were piano solo by Edward Hanfield; folk dances under the direction of Miss Holliger; violin solos by Herbert Schweitzer and Junior Paddock; duet by Kenneth and Ruth Stroker; songs by a few of the primary boys and Christmas songs by Sophia Lewis and Loraine Peterson. Each visitor was given a box of candy and Christmas cookies.

The decorations were very Christmasy. The committee went to a lot of trouble to bring the Christmas atmosphere into that dining room and their efforts brought many compliments. The decorations are remaining for the annual complimentary dinner which is being held this Friday evening. Invitations are out for the public installation of officers which will be held in the Arlington Heights high school auditorium, Jan. 7.

INSULTE HOMES AND SAVE, SAY PLUMBERS

Modern home owners waste fuel and money in futile attempts to heat the great outdoors, the Illinois Master Plumbers' Association revealed yesterday. Insulation of houses to prevent escape of heat was recommended.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

Christmas time is looked forward to with a great joy by everyone. It celebrates the birthday of the world's greatest teacher. It magnifies childhood and encourages peace and good will among men. It is a time of renewed dedication to the great truths of life which every teacher seeks to build into the characters of children. In the spirit of the Great Teacher, may we ever try to magnify and beautify in the lives of all with whom we come in contact, the ideals of him who went about teaching kindness, simplicity and truth.

Teachers of the Palatine Public Schools.

SETTLEMENT SCHOOL CASE NOW ASSURED

A definite settlement of the high school case is now assured and all that remains is to complete a few details and all litigation will be over and the school board will be able to proceed with the completion of the building as rapidly as possible.

As stated in our last issue conferences have been held between all parties interested and a satisfactory settlement has been in sight from the first. These conferences were brought about thru the efforts of a committee of members of the Palatine Lions club and the members of this committee have participated in all conferences.

The settlement arrived at was simple and satisfactory to all concerned and was made possible by the earnest efforts toward peace and the hearty cooperation of all parties connected with the case.

A new syndicate has been formed composed of representative citizens who are purchasing the strip of lots directly east of the high school grounds from the syndicate which now owns the property.

This purchase by the new syndicate automatically removes any cause for argument relative to widening Oak Street or any other technicalities which might enter into the case, the new syndicate apparently being perfectly satisfied with their purchase as it stands.

The settlement of all the differences involved in the case and the early return to work on the new building will be hailed with joy by this entire community and this news is beyond doubt the finest and most acceptable Christmas present Palatine could have.

The real spirit of community cooperation and community welfare which made possible the settlement of this case is a credit to all the men who participated in the conferences and tried earnestly and conscientiously to arrive at a settlement which would be satisfactory to all concerned.

The Enterprise commends the spirit shown and the results accomplished by the methods of conference and arbitration which were followed and we believe that we express the sentiment of the community when we say that such methods and the results accomplished thereby are much preferable to disagreements and misunderstandings.

All parties to the settlement are to be congratulated and complimented. They have given Palatine cause to enjoy a honest to goodness Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Prepare for Work On New School

With a settlement of the high school suit assured, preparations are going forward to resume work on the new building and rush it to completion, as soon as possible. Architect Ralph Abel of Elgin, was in Palatine Wednesday, and was overjoyed to learn that the settlement had been arrived at and that all of Palatine was working together for the completion of the new high school.

Mr. Abel will get busy at once to get together the contractors interested in the completion of the building and the end of the holiday season will see a renewed activity around the new school house, which will continue until the completion of the new high school, which, when completed, will be one of the finest and most modern schools in northern Illinois.

Ole Olson Looking For Good Big Swede Girl

The radio waves carried out the information this week that Ole Olson, the "child" of O. G. Barrett is looking for a good big Swede girl to feed cows, and wash dishes. A lot of letters are being received at station WLS in regard to this request from Ole for help that he may start up in business for himself as a farmer. As Ole is the protégé of Farm Adviser Barrett, the editor of this paper sees no reason why Ole should not have the help of Mr. Barrett's friends to find that wife for his protégé.

We suggest however that applicants reply in writing as Mr. Barrett already has a wife and Ole does not want any third person butting in his private affairs, anyway.

CHRISTMAS IN THE CHURCHES OF ARLINGTON

The Presbyterian church will open the Christmas celebration with a Cantata given by the choir in the church Friday night, Dec. 23. The number chosen is "The Christmas Adoration." The choir will be directed by Miss Helen Marie Roast, with Mrs. Adelaide McCremmon, assisting with violin. Soloists, Mrs. Jessie Bergens, and Mr. Fitzwater. In duets and trios Mrs. Gertrude Williams, Mrs. Ruth Koerber, Mrs. Clara Weise, Miss Gertrude Lofenzen, and Mr. Fayette Briggs. The choir have given much time to the preparation for this cantata, and will deserve a good audience. Proceeds of evenings offering to be used for needed expenses.

Saturday evening, promptly at seven o'clock, in the New Sunday school hall, the exercises for Christmas will be given by the Sunday school children. This is always one of the happiest of all the Christmas celebrations. Don't forget the hour, seven o'clock, Saturday evening.

Sunday the Christmas sermon and service will be given at the usual hour of morning service in the church.

St. Peter's new Sunday school will give their exercises, so earnestly and enthusiastically prepared in the school hall, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. They gave recitations, dialogues, singing and pantomimes in which 240 children, with their instructors took part. The day school will give their German-English Christmas program Saturday night in the church.

Sunday morning the Christmas sacred service will be given in the American language at eleven o'clock in the church. The Sunday school have their session at an earlier hour. All these Christmas services will be fittingly carried out in a manner of serious and joyful worship. The second Christmas devoted to the Altenehm group. This service will be in charge of the Senior pastor, Rev. Noack, in the chapel. In which 115 of the household will take part, of these twelve will enjoy their first Christmas in the home. A group of nine children will give songs, dialogues and readings. There will be gifts for each dweller in the home, and not even the children enter more joyfully into the Christmas service than these far travelers in life's journey, to them it is a happy hour.

The Methodist congregation unfortunately are rather handicapped in their usual elaborate and joyful Christmas celebration. The broken up church auditorium and unfinished building hinders their plans. They begin the celebration in the J. Y. Beatty home, where 25 or more carolers will assemble. Christmas Eve, where games, refreshments and social converse will occupy the early evening hours, until midnight, when they will go out to sing at every gate and portal in the town, filling the midnight air with the glad Christmas carols.

Sunday morning at ten o'clock the Sunday school celebration will be given in Arlington Theater. The program of music, reading "The Other Wisemen," accompanied by music, also reading of why "The Chimes rang." A treat for the children. The Rev. Allen Billman will give a Christmas sermon "Why The Christ Child came" with the usual Sunday morning service.

At St. James church the usual Christmas program has been dispensed with, because of the illness of the Rev. Father Gall who though yet far from well, hopes to be with his people in the service. At five o'clock Sunday morning will be given the first Mass. The cradle Mass, and the children never want to miss this beautiful service.

At eight and ten o'clock will be Masses, sacred music, and appropriate Christmas services, where Father Gall is unable to carry forward the service he will be relieved by an assistant.

St. John's Evangelical church, the Christmas Eve exercises will be given by the Sunday school in their rooms at the church, beginning at 7:30. Program by the children, singing, recitations, distribution of gifts and a treat, and a glad and happy Christmas celebration. The Sunday morning service in the church at the usual hour. There will be a Christmas sermon in the German language by the Pastor, Rev. Ellerbrake. The administration of the communion of the Lords supper, also observed in German language. Monday evening the choir and other musical members will give a Cantata "Around the Manger" in the church at 7:30. We sincerely hope all these several church services will be impressively given, and well attended by men and women, as well as children, who may in some small measure, realize the meaning of Christmas and it's great gift to humanity.

Bensenville Lady Faces Holdup Man; Loses Her Money

Last Saturday evening while walking along a residential street of Mont Clare, Mrs. Dorothy Cahill was accosted by a man with a drawn revolver. She was notified to make no noise and the man asked if she were married. Mrs. Cahill, if she were married, and was wearing her beautiful diamond under her gloves, replied no. This information seemed to satisfy the hold up man who demanded that she hand over what cash she had. This was quickly done and she was permitted to go on her way. Occurrences of this nature makes one wonder if they are safe at any stage of the game these days.

OBSERVER'S NOTES

A Merry Christmas, every one, who greets today, its rising sun; May the glad joy and merry cheer, follow and bless you all the year. The love and peace of Christmas day.

Be with you all along your way; And may your heart just overflow, With the Christ Spirit, as you go.

Hello, everybody! Merry Christmas. Isn't it a grand and glorious thing, that we can claim part and parcel in the first great Christmas gift? The babe smiling out from His mother's arm; not a king, crowned with majesty to awe us, but just a dear little baby.

On Earth nothing so rules the hearts of men, as a little child, and so the little babe in the manger is to be the sovereign of all hearts. The wise men looked for a king, one who was to rule Israel and they found a babe, who still rules the world.

The real joy of giving and receiving? It is in the Christ Spirit of love and good will. No one can enter into the Christmas joy without they have the heart of a child. You know except ye become as little children. We can not enter the Kingdom of Heaven, and so it is at Christmas time.

He who keepeth the childlike heart, Beareth the Christmas gem; Angels ever to such impart, The message of Bethlehem.

He who keepeth the heart of a child, Simple, trusting and pure; All unconfused, and unguiled, By man made creeds that lure.

He who keepeth his heart like this, O best shall his Christmas be. The joy the peace, the untold bliss, Of its world old mystery.

Once more a Merry Christmas to everybody. To those who love me; those I love; to those who imagine they hate me, but in reality do no such thing; to those who misunderstand me, and in that have nothing on me, for who of us all understands self? Don't criticize your Christmas presents, O yes, a Merry Christmas! And let us see "two will beat" in continuing it through all the year.

Sadly are we coming to misconstrue the true Christmas Spirit, and Christmas giving, as it should be, overwhelmed, and lost in commercialism, and in the polite bestowal of gifts. If we could only give more of love and sympathy, more of ourselves, "Because the Love of Christ constraineth us," and for no other reason, how blessed would our Christmas be. Are we sitting up nights straining every nerve to pay back, yes and maybe straining our purses too, as I say to "pay back" those who gave to us last year.

Don't do it! If love is not the impelling motive of you giving don't give. The love that fills our hearts and finds expression in our lives every day of the year, and all the time, that shows the Christ Spirit in all our attitude toward others about us, this is the Christmas Spirit. It is said that a lot of generosity is going to waste in the world, especially at Christmas time. Generosity? O yes, plenty of it, fairly running riot now. Benefits, bountiful dinners, and charity balls for the "suffering poor."

We send the child who shivers in squelch, ad want and needs everything, towards toys, and the poor are given indigestible dinners. A woman, haggled and pinched, her washer woman down to the lowest price for her work, that she might be able to give to a hospital. Possibly when under pay and over work have broken the poor woman down, she may be in the charity ward of that hospital. Generous at Christmas time, but too often inconsistent. Yet the joy of Christmas is here, let us be glad and rejoice.

Will some one send a petition or a special edict urging, imploring, commending, the daily newspapers to keep crime stories out of sight. Not to mar the lammy and peace of Christmas time with their horrible headlines, and tragic tales of murder and worse, let our Christmas be untroubled by such heinous things. Tell us of the good deeds done. Of the generous, wholehearted, brotherly kindness. The world is full of good Samaritans, our town is full of kind friendly people, let us hear about them.

By the way speaking of "Headlines" heard one of the Chicago papers could do great stunts with. When the Sunday school superintendent called on a certain class for their bank or its contents, a boy replied "our teacher has gone away and took the bank with him." So much for one harmless headline, and in all this I have not expressed my heartfelt Christmas wishes, as I would. There is a magic charm in the very air these fine days, approaching Christmas. It is not the gifts nor the giving, the music, the bells, the glorious anthems. It is just Christmas.

May it be a merry, a happy, a peaceful Christmas to everyone in this little old town, in the whole wide world, Merry Christmas, Amen.

O Christmas days of long ago! Whence came your magic charm, That made our ruddy hearthfires glow; And home with love light warm? There 'round the hearth in joy and mirth, Our stockings, circled, hung; When eyes were bright, and hearts were light, And good night hymns were sung.

O, Christmas bright, long was the night, Ere came that happy call; Of "Christmas gift" up, Children, swift, Now search your stockings all.

O, Christmas morn of long ago, Whence our ecstatic joy, When not a child of us could show, A doll, a drum, or toy?

The needed gift for hands or feet, The ribbon for our hair; With nuts and cakes, and O, so sweet, Some store bought candy, rare!

O, the strange glory in the air! The sweet mysterious thrill; We surely heard the angels there, Sing "Peace on Earth, Good Will."

Our simple joy was freely shared, With stranger, neighbor, friend, For sordid values, no one cared, Where priceless love, could spend.

How far our candles sent their glow, How blazed the woodfires bright; No are electric here can throw light, Such charmed, such glorious light.

Those Christmas joys are lost afar, Through wild ambitions greed; While hopes of gain, and schemings mar, With Christmas Holiest creed.

O, Christmas time of long ago! Whence your mysterious thrill, We felt within our fireside glow? It was God's Peace, Good Will.

"How Was the Word Real Estate Arrived At?"

It was first used long ago after some supposed wealthy person had died and left considerable property. When they died in those days the word Estate was commonly used as is now, what he left besides his land was soon gone or valueless and his land was the only Real Stuff he really did leave and they then placed the word Real in conjunction with the word Estate, hence the word REAL ESTATE. Land now in this community is very cheap considering what is going to be some day, don't think for a minute you are going to take a chance on it. Prices fifty years ago and prices today should certainly convince you, you are not taking any chance. If you cannot buy a section buy what you can. I can get you whatever you want from a lot to a section. These lots are in the best residential part of town. See me about them now.

After all the solution of the problem of Christmas giving is to be found in a perpetual Christmas of generous thoughtfulness, not to kill and kin alone, or to those who bestow on us, but unto all mankind; for when the world reaches up to the highest and holiest conception of relationship, it must find there is but one classes antagonistic to each other; nor can good bless one that harms the other. The reign of the spirit of our first Christmas gift, the Elder Brother of us all, that alone will usher in perpetual Christmasticide.

The Christmas Trees? O, the beauty of them in the homes of Arlington Heights, Ill. Our municipal tree, isn't that a grand thing to have it actually growing in the park. Why are not all our Christmas trees set out to grow? What an ideal way to mark the happy Christmas tide, each year with the growing Christmas tree? Some of our town's people have tried this. Our neighbor, Albert Mors, has a pretty Christmas tree growing on his lawn, set out two years ago. There is no more beautiful feature of our Christmas festival than the trees, let us preserve them as memorials of joyous Christmas times now past.

Comes an end to regretting; comes an end to philosophizing Christmas is here, let us rejoice and be glad. Let handkerchiefs for gifts if you want to get Jim-craws, and foolishness if that expresses Christmas good will from you to some one you love. I know of one man and woman who settled their Christmas gifts to each other like this: She got a table lamp, she had long wanted, for her husband, and he got her a pair of suspenders he much needed and they just exchanged gifts and were happy, and why not?

It's just going to be a glad and glorious Christmas in all the homes in our town. Who would cast a shadow over the joy of it? Some who have gone from us, we must ever miss. Yet they are where perpetual Christmas reigns, and we must not shade their happiness, with our sadness. Since last Christmas one has gone from our town whose kind encouraging Christmas message of appreciation today I miss, but oh, the joy of Mrs. Hitchcock's release, and who so selfish as to wish her back?

Will some one send a petition or a special edict urging, imploring, commending, the daily newspapers to keep crime stories out of sight. XMAS SEAL SALE DRAWS TO A CLOSE

Few persons have any conception of the magnitude of the annual Christmas Seal Sale. Looking at a single seal, it is hard to realize that it is only one of a billion and a half, which had to be printed a whole year in advance of the December sale.

To print, distribute, advertise and sell over 1,500,000,000 seals is a project that is somewhat out of the ordinary for social and philanthropic organizations. The first step is the selection of a design. The 1927 seal was designed by John W. Evans of Brooklyn, New York, a noted artist and woodcut engraver. It shows Santa Claus driving over the snow in a sleigh pulled by his reindeer. Besides his packs full of presents he is carrying the message of health for the new year.

Following the selection of the design, careful experiments are conducted to secure the correct colors and ink, and after printing, the seals must be perforated, cut, sorted, packed and finally shipped to the 1500 state and local tuberculosis associations during July and August in order to reach them in time for the sale in December.

As the work progresses, each step must be approved by the Advisory Committee on the Seal Sale, which represents the National Tuberculosis Association and the forty-eight state associations. All associations are supported almost entirely by the sale of Christmas seals and are Voluntary Organizations.

In selling the Christmas Seals, tuberculosis associations employ every good selling device that ordinary business concerns employ. The actual selling campaign is, of course, handled by each local organization in its own district. The main reliance is placed upon a direct mail campaign, which produces about 70 per cent of the total returns from the Christmas Seal Sale. During the Christmas season, no less than 5,000,000 letters, containing from $1 to $10 worth of seals have been sent to prospective purchasers in every state.

Supplementing the mail sale is the method of personal solicitation, which is advocated by the National Association only in the case of selected individuals in each community. Secondary methods consist of the use of school children as salesmen, booths located at strategic points, self-service coin boxes in prominent places, and stunts of various kinds in the streets and in public places.

The seals that are sold for one cent each have made possible the organized campaign against tuberculosis that has been carried on with ever-increasing emphasis year by year, and the Christmas seals stand for something more, for they are truly health seals, since whatever helps to prevent tuberculosis helps to make for health. With the money raised by the sale of seals there have been secured hundreds of sanatoria where those ill with the disease may receive care; preventoria, where children who have been exposed to the disease may be built up to resist its attack; tuberculosis nurses to care for patients who are ill in their own homes; and clinics, where examinations and advice are freely given.

To thousands of people has been given the optimistic message that tuberculosis is a curable disease. Steady progress is being made in the fight against it, for since the organization of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association in 1904 the death rate from it has been cut more than fifty per cent. Christmas Seals furnish the ammunition that is winning the battle.

The sale in DuPage county is in charge of the DuPage County Public Health Society.

Christmas Seals are more popular this year than heretofore. One of the evidences of the popularity of the tuberculosis Xmas Seal is that a number of business men have written the office saying they wish to purchase an additional supply. If King Boreas tried to freeze up purses he must have failed. At the present time the sales total more than last years figures at this date, with letters containing remittances still coming in. Have you done your bit? If not we hope to hear from you at an early date as it pays to keep "Well people Well."

Change Desired

Mother was teaching Mary Jane age three, the "Our Father," by having her repeat each short sentence, as mother said it. Mary Jane was learning nicely the first week of her lesson. The second week, when mother came to the sentence, "Give us this day our daily bread," Mary Jane hesitated slightly, looked up at mother and said, "Mother! I want a peanut sandwich this time."—Successful Farming.

Oil of First Importance

In the temple at Jerusalem ritual oil was frequently employed. The ceremony in which oil was used was indicative of gladness; so its absence denoted sorrow or humiliation. Kings, priests and prophets were anointed with oil. The Jews were required to include oil among the first-fruit offerings, and tithes of oil were also required.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

A Christmas Meditation

"Merry Christmas!" "Happy Christmas!" Such words of greeting are on everyone's lips on Christmas Day. But like many of our greetings and salutations, they often become more or less a cold matter of form, a mere custom, a perfunctory ceremony, connected by tradition with the day. They are uttered sometimes without even the redeeming quality of sincerity. They are too often a meaningless lip greeting.

At best they are in most cases part of that forced and unnatural Christmas spirit and Christmas celebration with which people endeavor to cheer themselves up temporarily; that manufactured joyousness with which people try to banish at least for a few hours, the cares and vexations of life.

There is at Christmas time a general artificial endeavor to create a little spirit of goodwill and love, of which there is so pitifully little in the world. Much of this forced Christmas spirit is based on extravagance and feasting and merry-making, and after the holidays the revellers relapse into the same hopeless cheerless grind.

That is not a "Merry Christmas" in the spiritual and real sense of the word. Our greeting must be based on the greeting of the angels on that first Christmas night: "Behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy; for unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."

A true holiday greeting must be based on the wish that Christmas happiness be an abiding happiness, founded on the wondrous proof of the Heavenly Father's love lying in the manger at Bethlehem.

Gathered again in spirit amidst the humble surroundings of the stable at Bethlehem, we view with awe and wonder that little infant who determining the fate of the world, whose career forms the center of all human history and who revolutionized our eternity. We have done it before. We do it every year, and yet we shall never exhaust the meaning of that "mystery of godliness, God manifest in the flesh." The miracle of Bethlehem is far beyond the full grasp of the finite human mind.

Under the Holy Spirit's guidance we recognize that this wondrous event has for each one of us a personal significance. The significance lies in the angels' message: "Unto you is born... a Savior!" God knows, we need one.

Without Him our condition would be desperate until hopelessness. Every peaceful, happy moment we enjoy in life and our sure hope of a blessed eternity beyond the grave is due to His coming. No wonder we celebrate the anniversary of His birth with joyous acclaim. We celebrate at Christmas time not merely an important event in our life, but the very coming of our life.

With the full happiness of souls redeemed may God grant us a Merry Christmas.

We shall throw our church doors wide open as an invitation to all men to join us in the celebration of a real Christmas.

Christmas is essentially a festival of the church. Eliminate the church and its divine services and the day will become a hollow shell, empty of real spiritual life.

Perhaps Christmas meant something to you as a child. You have grown older and world-wise. It has lost its religious flavor. Come to church, we urge you, and hear the old familiar tunes and listen to the old story. Perhaps you will catch the "spirit" of it and go away a happier man.

Christmas Eve has been set aside for the children's service. You will hear the tunes of your childhood as well as never, sung by childish voices in two languages.

And Christmas Day? Can you fail to respond to the invitation of the tolling bells? You have not gone to church for months, even years. You have lost touch with the church and its message. You are drifting, just drifting down life's stream, aimlessly. Friend, for your soul's sake, shake off that spiritual numbness. Come to church on Christmas day and let the songs and the word of the Infant Savior flood your heart with new joy.

We invite you again for the services on second Christmas Day. The message of salvation will be stressed again in the English service at 7:30 p. m. of that day.

Give the church the opportunity to inspire you with the spiritual significance of this season of rejoicing.

Yours for a Happy Christmas,

A Merry, Merry Christmas Everybody

Santa Claus

the spirit of Christmas
—wishing to one and all a merry, merry day, and a liberal share in all the good things of life.

What a wonderful world this would be if each one of us would carry on throughout the year, the spirit of the Yuletide. And we can. An active interest in local affairs, doing our share toward helping our neighbors and our community to progress, is putting into actual practice the spirit of Christmas. Building up our community by centering all of our trading activities here is another very definite means of creating a greater prosperity and happiness for all.

The Christmas Spirit is showing itself in many ways in our village and we are indeed happy about it. The Chamber of Commerce community tree and the business men's gifts to the children were on the program as per usual Wednesday evening at 7:15, when dear old St. Nick arrived in town.

"Peace on Earth Toward Men Good Will" is in the air and everywhere everyone has a smile and is filled with joy as well as proud of the fact that he is a resident of our village.

The village collector has been busy sending out special assessment notices and bills and he has had quite a unique system installed in his office so as to give the best possible service to property owners.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE A BIG SUCCESS

The Community Christmas Tree of Wheeling was held Wednesday evening. This is the first affair of this nature Wheeling has had. The response of the people of the community and vicinity was marked by an attendance of close to a thousand people.

The tree was planted next to the Presbyterian church, at the corner of Dundee and Milwaukee avenue, and was viewed by the people who passed thru the town.

Three large trees cast their warmth and light, thus adding to the general spirit of the evening. The tree was decorated with gay Xmas trimmings and lighted with one hundred or more electric lights.

The affair was well attended by the children of the community and vicinity. Every school of the district was invited to attend in a body. A touch of the Christmas spirit was added to the occasion, as the children marched from nearby places, in their respective groups, and having marched about the tree took their place and rendered a Christmas song. The following schools were represented: Wheeling school, Strong school, Grove school, Trip school, J. M. Merrill school, and some sixty-five or more children of the Lilly Farm.

The formal part of the program began with the entrance of the children of the Lilly Farm, singing as they approached the tree, "Joy to the World." A young cornetist of their number played a solo. The group, other groups followed in like manner and participated in singing the following numbers: "It

Reception for Pastor Of Wheeling Church

While the breath of the elements was disturbed and icy, a warm spirit of hospitality and good-fellowship prevailed, as members and friends of the Presbyterian church welcomed the Rev. E. Leslie Shaw to the pastorate on Friday evening.

The program of the evening opened with the singing of a Christmas carol. One of the elders of the church, Mrs. J. E. Barrett, extended a word of greeting to all present, and turned the program over to the Rev. Guy Smock of Libertyville, who is serving as the moderator of the church until the installation of its new pastor. Numerous musical selections, interspersed with greetings from visiting pastors, and laymen, composed a most enjoyable program.

Two of the boys of the Sabbath school, Masters John Sicks, and Frank Utpadel, gave several violin and vocal selections in which they were accompanied by Miss Grace Hank. Mr. E. L. Carpenter, accompanied by Mrs. Edwin Koebelin, contributed a solo. Mrs. H. L. Bingham and Miss Adeline Schneider sang a duet and latter in the program the Mesdames H. S. and H. L. Bingham entertained with a piano duet. The Rev. Kossack of Arlington Heights, Rev. G. Watson of Northbrook and Rev. M. Andrews of Deerfield, added greatly to the pleasantness of the evening with stories and brief messages of encouragement and good will. Laymen of the various churches, also voiced the greetings of their various activities. At the close of the program the Rev. Smock presented the pastor with a beautiful basket of flowers, as a token of esteem and good-fellowship from the congregation. After the program the assembly retired to the church parlor where the ladies of the church had spread a substantial lunch for all. A radio had been installed to furnish music at the tables, and some of the younger members of the congregation entertained with cheer song.

The pastor expressed a keen appreciation of the honor thus accorded him, and voiced his desire to serve the community and prove himself worthy of the faith placed in him by this people.

The hearty response of the neighboring churches was most encouraging both to pastor and people, and it is hoped the future may find these churches working together in many further activities.

Childerly School Xmas Service

At the hour of twilight on Sunday the children of Childerly school gave a beautiful interpretation of the Christmas message. The service opened with a processional of all of the children, which was very festive with their gayly colored lanterns. This was followed by the singing of Christmas carols. Then came the presentation of the Christmas story with the shepherd scene, the announcement by the host of angels, the visit to the infant King and the advocacy of the wise men. At the close of the service all joined in the singing of the hymn "O Come All Ye Faithful." Following the service, supper was served to all out of town guests. The large tree covered with lights at the entrance of the school is an inspiration in itself, and the people of Childerly invite any who are so inclined, to drive out and enjoy it with them during the evening of the holiday season.

WHEELING

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hall have returned from Texas, where they spent several months.

Mr. Bernard Laufenburg is living here with his brother.

Miss L. Garratt has gone to Waterville, Me., for the holidays.

The Uden family are moving to Coral, Ill., where they have purchased a home.

Miss Elsie Wendling arrived in Wheeling on Tuesday, having been called home from Columbia University, New York, by the sudden death of her mother.

Miss Ann Port, who has been attending a school of Drama in New York City, is at home for the holidays.

Wheeling Camp R. N. A. held their annual Christmas party in connection with their regular meetings last Thursday evening. A goodly number of members were present, with their children, who were the special guests of the evening. After a brief business meeting, the meeting was turned over to Christmas festivities. The party was greatly enlivened by the entrance of Santa, who distributed gifts to all. With cookies, apples, and candy in abundance, the children were appeased and the evening passed merrily. The hall was appropriately decked for the occasion and a cosy fireplace and decorated tree created a homelike atmosphere.

Members of the Blue-bird Scout troop spent a very pleasant evening in the singing of Christmas carols, before the various homes of the village, on Tuesday evening. The little lights sending forth their rays of welcome to the carolers, brought joy and inspiration to the hearts of the wanderers. The weather conditions being mild several hours were spent in covering the greater part of the village. The troop feels very grateful to the generous response, on the part of the citizens of the community. After the caroling, the merry party consisting of 23 members, a friends of the troop, were served refreshments at the home of one of the troop mothers, Mrs. Edna Gieseke.

Glen Hunter in Play
Blackstone Theatre

Glen Hunter, in "Behold This Dreamer," a satirical comedy, from the novel of the same title by Fulton Oursler, dramatized by the author and Aubrey Kennedy, will be the attraction at the Blackstone Theatre for a limited engagement commencing Monday night, December 26. Mr. Oursler is co-author of "The Spider" and he also wrote the novel, "Sandalwood," which he made into a play for Pauline Lord.

Glen Hunter started his stage career under the direction of Geo. C. Tyler and he has appeared under the same direction continuously in "Clarence," "Merton of the Movies," "Young Woodley," and now in "Behold This Dreamer."

In the cast with Mr. Hunter are Elinor Patterson, who achieved such distinction in "The Miracle," Thomas A. Wise, distinguished star through many seasons; Dodson Mitchell, conspicuous from the first American production of "Candida" to "The Tavern" in which he played the role of the tavern-keeper, and Edward Donnelly, whose last appearance was with Grant Mitchell in "One of the Family."

Others prominent in the cast are Mary Jane Herring, Patricia O'Hearn, James Seely, William Lorenz and J. J. Hyland.

Frederick Stanhope, who staged the play, has in the past staged such productions as Maeterlinck's "The Bluebird" and "The Betrothal," the Harvard Stadium production of "Caliban," "Joseph and His Brethren," "The Daughter of Heaven" and many other noted productions.

In this new play, Mr. Hunter breaks away definitely from the adolescent roles in which he has been so brilliantly successful. He will now be seen grown up, married and presumably settled down. But he doesn't stay settled down for he is full of dreams and from his dreams the drama begins.

Adelphi Theatre
Presents Large
Xmas Attraction

One of the most important of the Christmas attractions promised to Chicago theatergoers is "The Squall," the cyclonic success that has been raging for more than a year at the 48th Street Theatre in New York. This famous drama will open an engagement at the Adelphi Theatre, Christmas night, December 26, and Monday, January 1. A gala New Years Eve performance will be given Saturday, December 31.

Both from the standpoint of a well written drama and good acting, "The Squall" merits every bit of the tremendous success that it is having. It has color, life, emotion. It vibrates with action from beginning to end. Pierce, gales of passion sway the characters, one and all. Love is presented in a variety of forms; mother-love, sex love, romantic love and the love of a wife for her husband of twenty years.

The story of the play has to do with Nubi, a gypsy beauty, driven by a hurricane into a peaceful farmhouse on the outskirts of Granada. She begins as the servant in the house and ends as the lustrous temptress of the father, son and servant. True to its tempestuous title, this passion-swept play is the whirlwind success of the season—a riotous rocketing hit—a standing room smash.

Blanche Yurka is the star of "The Squall," and as the patient, courageous mother in a Spanish household she gives a performance that was hailed by the New York critics as one of the finest characterizations of all time.

Thrills, Thrills and Sensations Now at Minturn - Central

When you visit the Minturn-Central Theatre, Chicago, you are assured of thrills, thrills and sensations, for wasn't it here that "One Man's Woman" and "Rain" broke all records and ran for weeks and months? And now comes a new thriller, Christmas night, Sunday, December 25, the Minturn-Central will house William A. Brady's production of "A Good Bad Woman," by William J. McNally, with Miss Ruth Thomas and a complete New York cast.

"A Good Bad Woman" is the play that ran at the Playhouse, New York, seven months and was only withdrawn by Mr. Brady when the agitation of the self-appointed moralistic censors caused the withdrawal also of "Sex," "The Captive," "Desire Under the Elms" and other red-blooded dramas. However, no stigma was cast upon "A Good Bad Woman," except that it told the story of a young girl cast upon the world at the age of fourteen, and of her many temptations, trials and tribulations in this jazz age among cabaret hounds, gin babies and unlearned youthful passions. In fact, Mary Ferris, the girl in question, attempts to right the wrong of her own good name that it is only through the sacrifice of her own good name that she saves the happiness of a man and

The production at the Minturn-Central will be the first in Chicago and the advance demand for tickets is said to be so large that it has been necessary to arrange special performances for the first two weeks. There will be two special matinees December 26 and January 2, and in addition to the regular performance New Years Eve, Saturday night, December 31, at 8:30, there will be a special midnight performance at 11:15.

Marks Bros. Arrange
Special Holiday Shows

Marks Bros. have arranged a special series of "Holiday Season Shows" that start this week and extend over the holiday period. These stage entertainments have been especially built and have appropriated talent for the Yuletide period. At a time when joyousness and merry good spirit are the production department decided they would give the public seasonable and elaborate entertainments. Charles Kaley's "Delft Blue" at the Marbro theatre is said to be crammed with happy music, laughs and fast dancing, so that holiday shoppers may find relief from the stress of selecting gifts.

"Joy Week," a stage show which brought rumors of perfection far in advance of its opening, is Benny Meroff's supreme effort to offset a gloomy state of mind and to fill northsiders with the thrills and heartily laughter. In the meantime the production department of Marks Bros. is preparing another great show for Charles Kaley and special yuletide settings are being constructed so that this show, coming to the Granada Monday, December 17 may be the event of the year.

Huge Christmas Stage Shows at the Uptown

It's a well known fact that Christmas comes but once a year—and equally well known that in Balaban & Katz theatres the special Christmas shows are the biggest entertainments staged during the whole year—and the biggest Christmas pantomimes staged any where in the United States.

For weeks now the Balaban & Katz production department has been working on the Uptown giant entertainments for the week beginning Monday, Dec. 26. Scenic artists have been preparing the many and varied elaborate settings; the costume designers have been poring over their drawings; the musical directors rehearsing orchestras.

Krueger at Uptown
At the Uptown theatre "Mother Goose" is the title of the Christmas revue. Over 50 big and little people—clowns, ballet dancers, comedians, entertainers of all sorts—will be in the cast of "Mother Goose." Bennie Krueger and his orchestra will lead the merry-making.

Billie Dove Comes to Norshore in Comedy

A decidedly human story, presenting a real insight into the life of the American girl of average circumstances, is promised in "American Beauty," Billie Dove's latest starring production for First National Pictures, scheduled for Balaban & Norshore theatre beginning Sunday.

As a typical American girl, with the not unusual ambition to marry a millionaire, but at the same time with a troubling affection for a youth in her own circumstances, the character played by Miss Dove is a very real one and gives her what is possibly her best opportunity for an outstanding screen portrayal.

The Biggest Christmas Celebration ever held at the Norshore theatre will be staged beginning Sunday, December 25. A stupendous show of dazzling beauty and riotous joy. Al Kvale and his Band will lead privities in "Toytown Follies," the mammoth holiday extravaganza with brilliant settings, crowds of big and little people, clowns, ballets, surprises.

The King's Head

Each succeeding British sovereign "looks the opposite way" to his predecessor on their coinage. This has been observed since the Restoration of Charles II, who expressed a strong desire not to look the same way as Oliver Cromwell. It was in the reign of Charles II that Britannia first appeared on the coinage, the original model being taken from a portrait of beautiful Frances Stewart, Duchess of Richmond.

Rainbow's End

Way back in the nineties the farmer folk who drove into town to see the circus parade used to wish they could ride behind something that didn't kick up its heels at the sight of elephants and lions. And now that they've got the wish and ride behind an engine that wouldn't know an elephant from a field mouse, lo and behold! the circus parades are being abolished—Toronto Star.

Railway Sacks

Indian jute, made 23 inches by 58 inches, and of quality 12 wett by 12 threads porter, produces the railway grain sacks for the farmers and shippers of Britain's grain and Britain's bread. It is said that the average life of a railway sack is seventeen years, and even then it is not useless, for it is usually sold to paper factories, or used by acid manufacturers for rough gloves for their workmen.

Many Uses for Wood
There are said to be approximately 4,500 uses for wood in the United States. It is judged to be an indication that wood will always be used in industry.
